FOREWORD

Illinois Shorthorn breeders lead those of all other states in the character of bulls at the head of their herds and hence in the type and quality of their productions. In this catalog there are pictures of many of the great bulls that head the herds of the breeders who are consigning to this sale. If they were available, the pictures of the sires of the other cattle that will be sold would be just as impressive.

The females that have produced the Shorthorns that will be sold in this sale are of just as high quality and of as rich breeding as are the bulls that sired them. It is by mating such bulls to such females that the type and quality of the breed improves. The cattle in this sale were selected by their owners to exemplify the best specimens produced in their respective herds and committees of experts have inspected the various lots and have accepted them as being of quality and type properly to represent the breed.

Wherever the best of Shorthorns are produced, there you will find Illinois breeders selecting foundation stock and sires with which to head their herds. The bull pictured on page 6 of this catalog, grand champion at the 1947 International Live Stock Exposition, is an example of one that was procured recently by two Illinois breeders from Canada to be used as a herd bull. The entire offering bears out the slogan of the Illinois Shorthorn Breeders' Association "You can buy with confidence in Illinois."
